

ART 140: Introduction to Art
Summer 2017

This summer online version of our Introduction to Art course includes weekly online lectures, discussion boards, readings, self-directed field trips, videos, and hands-on art making/studio activities through an asynchronous learning environment. This online version of the course provides an introduction to art through thematic lectures exploring both historical and contemporary artistic practices with a self-directed creative and expressive exploration of multiple art media to provide insight to a wide range of artistic practice. Studio techniques will be taught through online video tutorials and documentation of studio explorations and projects will be submitted through compass.
